Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2.  Claims 1¹² are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Padula (US006330486B1).

Regarding claims 1, 5 and 9, Padula discloses a method for generating a three-dimensional audio scene (col. 3, lines 31-33) with a sound source whose spatiality is extended (sound source is movable), comprising the steps of:

a) generating a sound object (72); and

b) generating three-dimensional (73-79) audio scene description information including sound source characteristics information for the sound object, wherein the sound source characteristics information includes spatiality extension information of the sound source which information on the size and shape the sound source expressed in a three-dimensional space (col. 3, lines 46-49).

Regarding claims 2, 6 and 10, Padula shows that the spatiality extension information of the sound source includes sound source dimension information that expressed as an x component, y component and z component of a three-dimensional rectangular coordinates (col. 7, lines 61-62).

Art Unit: 2615

Regarding claims 3, 7 and 11, the claimed geometrical center location information of the sound source dimension information reads on the location defined by x, y, z coordinates or polar coordinates.

Regarding claims 4, 8 and 12, Padula shows that the spatiality extension information of sound source further includes direction information of the sound source and describes a three-dimensional audio scene by extending the spatiality of the sound source in a direction vertical to the direction of the sound source (col. 10, lines 27-53).
